TUNNEL DEADLOCK HOPELESS.

IND THE PENNSYLVANIA MAY SEEK AID FROM ALBANY.

The Aldermen Insist on Restrictions or the Hours and Pay of Workmen-Hallroad Company Firm-May Ask the Legislature to Amend the Law.

The conferences between representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the Rapid Transit Commission and the Board of Aldermen over the railroad company's projected tunnel from Jersey City were resumed vesterday. At the last conference, before the vacation season, a contract satisfactory to all concerned had been practically agreed on with the exception of the clauses regulating the hours of labor and the rate of wages of the workmen on

The Aldermen's representatives insisted on a clause providing for an eight-hour day and the prevailing rate of wages. To this, the railroad company, represented by Vice-President J. P. Green, would not agree, nor would it consider any other clause which should restrict it in its dealings with the workmen.

The matter was discussed at great length yesterday, and the result of it all was that the deadlock upon the labor question is more pronounced than ever.

Borough President Cantor insisted on the Aldermen's clause. He admitted that the city could not legally compel the company to do this, but he contended that a mutual agreement would not be contrary to the court decisions on the Prevailing Rate of Wages law. Mr. Green of the Pennsylvania company said that his company simply would not agree to any restrictions, and that if President Cantor and the Aldermen wished to keep the Pennsylvania company from entering the city they could do so

Mr. Cantor, in the course of a conciliatory speech, said that he appreciated that the Pennsylvania had paid the standard rate of wages and had recognized labor unions. Mr. Green interrupted him to say that the Pennsylvania company had never recognized any labor union and that it didn't intend to

"I tell you frankly," he added, "we are but the servants of our stockholders, and we cannot and will not surrender their rights. That is what you ask and that is what we refuse."

Comptroller Grout wanted the company to agree that in case of any labor disputes the matter should be settled by an arbitration board made up of one member each from the Rapid Transit Commission, the Pennsylvania company and the laborers on the tunnel and two other members to be selected by the three. Mr. Green rebe selected by the three. Mr. Green rejected this proposition also.

"You ask us, in effect," he said. "to give up control of our business. We don't tell the city how to manage its business and we certainly do not intend that the city shall tell us how we shall conduct

President Cassatt, who was unable to present, sent to the conference a letter which he says of the proposed labor clause:

It would be simply a pretense for the Tunnel company or the Pennsylvaina Railroad Company to agree to do something over which neither company will have any control But, outside and beyond this, the city of New York is not justified in imposing any such condition. Its representatives are bound to protect its corporate interests in the agreement they may make with the tunnel company, but in going beyond this and attempting to impose a condition as to rates of wages or hours of labor to be paid by the tunnel company or its contractors, they would obviously exceed their proper powers and functions.

So impossible of settlement did the controversy seem that after the meeting there was talk of asking the Legislature to take from the Aldermen all jurisdiction over the franchise. The Pennsylvania people and those who are in favor of building the tunnel are confident that the Aldermen will not assent to the franchise without the rate-of-wages clause, and hold that relief can only come from the Legis-lature. It was learned yesterday that should the Aldermen hold out an effort will be made to have the Legislature pass a bill transferring the power of passing on the franchise from the Aldermen to the Board of Estimate.

After the meeting had been adjourned to Sept. 17, Mr. Green said: "The attitude we have taken is final; we will not recede from it under any consideration. If the Board of Aldermen want to prevent this great project being carried out, why let them, But I have a better opinion of the great city of New York than to think that it will allow its Aldermen to block a public improvement that unquestionably will be of inestimable value to the city."

President Cantor said that he would refuse to vote for the franchise until the labor clauses were embodied in it.

"The city," he said, "is committed to the policy of paying the prevailing rate of

In a Business Suit Reading Lawyer Appeared in His Coffin as in Life.

READING, Pa., Sept. 3.-J. Howard Jacobs. one of the leading criminal lawyers of eastern Pennsylvania, who died here a few days ago, was buried wearing a red necktie. Many visitors to the house of the dead lawyer inquired after the funeral why a light-colored business suit and a scarlet neck scarf were used instead of a shroud. A near friend of the family explained as follows:

"Mr. Jacobs was best known to all the people wearing a light-colored suit and a red tie. For this reason it was deemed best to bury him in that attire, rather than in a shroud that makes dead men look so very unnatural. "Mr. Jacobs started this fad a dozen

"Mr. Jacobs started this fad a dozen years ago, just after he had won 'an important case in court. The evidence and the charge of the Court seemed against him, yet he unexpectedly secured a verdict. During the long trial he wore a red tie for the first time in court. After the verdict of the opposing lawyers said: Jacobs, that tie of yours hoodooed jury. You had better keep it up in your important cases.'

"The lawyer took this advice and ever afterward when in a murder case or any other important trial wore a flaring red tie. He never lost a case when wearing a red tie, and as he has now gone to a Higher Court we all hope that with his red tie on, he will not lose his case there."

A short time later the same detectives came upon two men exchanging policy papers on Broome street. The detectives recognized one of them as Edward Smith of 98 Orchard street, for whom they had a bench warrant. The detectives say Smith is a big policy man. His companion, Jacob Ring of 63 East Seventh street, was also arrivsted. Both were locked up in the Eldridge street station.

JOHNSON'S BOOM IS LAUNCHED

CUT LOOSE AT THE OHIO CONVEN-TION, WHICH HE CONTROLS.

Buttons Marked "1904" Distributed to the Delegates He Secures the Reaffirmation of the Kansas City Platform and Prevents an Open Squatble Over It.

CEDAR POINT, Ohio, Sept. 3 .- It took the Democrats of Ohio in convention assembled, just one hour and forty minutes to adopt a platform, nominate a ticket and adjourn. With a single exception Tom Johnson had the delegations under his thumb.

The exception was furnished by Franklin county. On Tuesday when Johnson sought to interfere in the election of the central committeeman from the capital district he was turned down through the defeat of Director Philbrick. Again to-day, when he insisted on the nomination of one of his candidates for Dairy and Food Commissioner, Senator John Krause of Cleveland, Franklin county, once more took the anti-Johnson initiate and presented the name of Philip H. Bruck, who received the nomination. Aside from this jolt Johnson had everything his own way

Early in the day the feeling against his dictation had become so intense on the part of the McLean element that it became necessary to make a concession to the Cincinnati people. This was done by the Bigelow faction withdrawing its opposition to Bernard as Central Committeeman, as there had been a covert threat that if justice was not done Bernard, Mr. Bigelow would not know he had ever been a candidate, so far as Cincinnati was concerned. Anxiety to make a good showing at home induced the concession. The only other friction noticeable developed in the Committee on Resolutions, where three members headed by M. A. Daugherty, made a fight to pass the Kansas City platform in silence, but Mayor Johnson insisted in a positive manner that it be adopted. Daugherty then announced his purpose of fighting the platform on the floor of the convention, but yielded to the advice of friends and gave Johnson a clear

When the regular routine had been all but carried out several persons with large satchels were turned loose in the hall dis-tributing buttons bearing the picture of Johnson with the inscription: "Tom L. Johnson with the inscription: "Tom L. Johnson for 1904." This was taken as the formal launching of the Presidential boom of the Cleveland dictator in the presence of the Democratic hosts of Ohio.

Boiled down, the platform adopted is as follows: It reaffirms the Kansas City platform, indorses the leadership of William J. Bryan, but makes no specific mention of the "16 to 1" issue. It condemns trusts and monopoly corporations owning public service franchises. It declares for home rule in cities and demands removal from office of officials who accept free passes or other favors from the railroads. It calls for a popular vote on franchise renewals and the election of United States Senators by the people.

Senators by the people.

The following ticket was nominated:
For Secretary of State, Herbert S. Bigelow of Hamilton; for Judge of the Supreme Court, Michael Donnelly of Henry; for Dairy and Food Commissioner, Philip H. Bruck of Franklin; for Member of the Board of Public Works, Learnh I. Peter of Butler. Johnson, with his ten circus wagons and circus tent with a seating capacity of 3,500, will within ten days start on the most novel campaign in Ohio's history. This part of the State will be covered first taking every city and town in northwestern

F. K. LANE FOR GOVERNOR.

California Democrats Nominate Him Despite W. R. Hearst's Threat of a Bolt. SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 3.-The Demoratic State Convention to-day nominated for Governor Franklin K. Lane, the city attorney of San Francisco. The supporters of former Congressman Geary said that their man could not win and before the convention assembled they withdrew him and put up young James V. Coleman, the popular San Francisco clubman and millionaire, and nephew of William S. O'Brien, one of the original big four bonanza kings. The third nominee was Thomas O. Toland of Ventura. Lane won on the first ballot. the vote being Lane, 445; Coleman, 193; Toland, 47.

The nomination of Lane was aided by the attitude of W. R. Hearst's newspaper, the Examiner, which yesterday served notice on the convention that it would not support Lane. This attempt at dictation angered many conservative Democrats and they abandoned Geary for Lane in order to rebuke the paper.

The Examiner will now attempt to induce the Union Labor party to nominate Mayor Schmitz. Should this be done, the elec-Schmitz. Should this be able, is assured, is assured, as the only hope of the Democrats to beat Pardee lies in the union of the regular party trength with the labor vote.

The Democratic platform is very long. It denounces the present protective tariff and demands the placing of trust-made goods and necessaries of life on the free list. It and necessaries of life on the free list. It denounces monopolies, favors the complete exclusion of Chinese and the taxation of corporate property, including franchises. The following nominations for Congress were made: First, Thomas Ford of Nevada county; second, Theodore A. Bell Napa; sixth, Caston Ashe of San Benito; eighth, William E. Smythe of San Diego.

The bottle was laid before Sergt. Leonard at the station. He decided that the dark-brown fluid it contained was either "knockout drops" or liniment for the dancer's muscles. He wasn't sure which. The bottle and the twenty-two prisoners spent the night in the station.

YOUNG WOMEN PLAY BALL.

They Form a Nine and Defeat a Team of Young Men, 26 to 22. TAMMANY GLEEFULLY LOOKING TO ITS EXTINCTION.

NEWBURGH, Sept. 3.-At Pleasant Plains Dutchess county, a few days ago, at a pienie the young women of the Sunday school formed a baseball nine and challenged the young men to put a nine against them The women had Miss Lent as pitcher and Miss Van Wagner behind the bat. The playing of the women was an entire revelation, and they defeated their opponents by a score of 26 to 22 in five innings, the men declining to play longer.

That's the Programme for the Democratic State Convention at Present. Former Governor David B. Hill arrived at the Hoffman House yesterday afternoon and had political talks with many of his friends. In the evening he dined out with other political friends and returned to the Hoffman House late. Mr. Hill had nothing o say for publication as to the Democratic

Mr. Hill is not giving his confidence in hese days even to some of his very oldest political friends. He cautions them that t is not a time for talk; he is on a still hunt and he believes in a masterful silence until he Democratic State Convention assembles in Saratoga. He wants to see what the Republicans are to do in their State convention.

Immediately after Mr. Hill's arrival at he Hoffman House vesterday, some of the Democrats who talked with him said that in their opinion Chief Judge Alton B. Parker was to be the candidate of the Democratic State Convention, and that the convention was to be stampeded for him, just as it was for Hill in 1894.

Mr. Hill did'nt want the nomination that year any more than Chief Judge Parker seems to want it this year. The argument made to Hill in 1894, in effect was that the Democratic party had greatly honored him and that he should not fail to respond to its call when it needed him in its hour of distress. Some of the Democrats said that distress. Some of the Democrats said that they didn't believe in the programme of the convention stampeding for Judge Parker for the reason that he is a pretty heady gentleman and might decline the nomination. The Democratic party would 'then be in a deeper hole than it is at the moment. These Democrats do not advise the experiment of stampeding the convention for Judge Parker. Without the slightest doubt, they said, the convention could be very easily stampeded for him, but the aftermath should always be considered.

Nevertheless, the major testimony last night was all to the effect that the Democratic State Convention is to be stampeded for Judge Parker, heping that he will be induced to accept the nomination if it comes in the "hurrah" style.

He was first elected to the Board of Aldermen in 1894 from the old Twenty-seventh district, and has been elected in each successive Aldermanic election since.

In 1897 he ran on the Tracy ticket and was the only straight Republican elected in the entire greater city, beating the com-bined Low and Tracy vote by several thousand. In 1899 he was again elected by a plurality of more than 1,100, while Samuel S. Slater, the Republican candidate for Assembly, was defeated by more than 800 votes.

Two years ago Mr. Goodman was nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress in the old Fifteenth district. He cut Col. Ruppert's majority of 11,000 in 1898 down to 1,700.

SHEEHAN PARTY SPLITTING UP

There Won't Be Much of the G. N. Y. D. Left After the Primaries in Their View-Lack of Jobs the Chief Cause

Cantor Sees Things Coming His Way.

The Tammany leaders who are anxious have their faction of the Democracy New York county remain the dominant element in the party control have been much gratified by the signs of the dissolu-STAMPEDE FOR JUDGE PARKER. tion they have observed in the Sheehan organization since the beginning of the year, and they predict that within two months there will be only one Democratic organization in the county. The Sheehan movement has been the most formidable revolt within the party since the days of the County Democracy, and at one time it gave the members of the old-line Tammany organization a cold shiver when they thought of what it might amount to. Since the wheels of the present administration began to run, however, the signs that the Greater New York Democracy could not last have multiplied, and now the Tammany leaders look for its total extinction after the primaries.

THE SUN has already told that three of the Sheehan district organizations have gone over to the support of frank outand-out Tammany men., These are the organizations in the First, the Twentyninth and the Thirty-fifth districts. The most important organization of the Sheehanites has always been the Ninth district organization, and that is threatened by William S. Devery, running as a Tammany anti-Croker man, whose canvass now promises to be successful. One thing that has contributed to the downfall of the Sheehan organization has been the impossibility of maintaining two Democratic organizations in the same county under the provisions of the new primary law. Although the courts have no jurisdiction over the State conventions, no convention and no State leader would dare them.

in the Executive and County committees of the Democratic organization, which will control the organization, put some man like James J. Martin at the head of the committee and organization, and tell Mr. Croker that there is no hope of his eye being able to be a power in politics in this country again. Mr. Croker expects that he will be able to return next year and take the control of the municipal election away from those who will run the organiza-tion in his absence. He is confident that Tammany will return to power next year.

Lack of patronage for the little fellows has had a good deal to do with the falling off in influence of the Greater New York Democracy. The leaders have made known their grievances at all the meetings of the Executive Committee. They complain that they have not been able to take care of any the workers who aided in the election Mayor Low, and that while places have been denied to them the Tammany leaders of their districts have been able to place the men they wanted to.

The same complaint has been made for the Citizens' Union by its leaders and has weakened it in many of the districts. Republican organization has fared as poorly, but its leaders have not made any complaint, for they went into the fight with no expectation that they would be able to get anything out of the administration. Especial complaint has been made by the members of the Sheehan organization because President Cantor of Manhattan has been willing to give some of his patronage to the Tammany members of the Board of Aldermen, while not fulfilling the wishes of his own people in the matter of jobs. Mr. Cantor is looking forward to the time when the Democracy will be united, and he wants to take a big part in the reorganization. His friends say that at present his ambition is to become the harmonizer of the Demo-cratic factions, see the Greater New York Democracy and the old Tammany Hall pass away, and then be elected Mayor the city over a Republican-Citizens' Un candidate in 1903. He says he is "not a cardidate," but then he might yield to

RAINBOW-WREATHED CANTOR. If I Run for Governor I'll Win, Says He Thinks There's Quite a Chance.

The Hon, Jacob A. Canter, President of Manhattan borough, said yesterday referring to the boom his friends have launched for him as the Democratic candidate for Governor:

"If I go into the Democratic State concention as a candidate, I'll go in to win. And if I'm nominated I'll carry the State." President Cantor said he had no idea of the size of his boom until he went up the State on his vacation, a short time ago. "While I was up the State," he said, "I was surprised to learn that friends in several counties and some members of the State Committee were actually beoming me for the Governorship. I was still more sur-prised when I read in the newspapers that Julius Harburger of the Tenth Assembly district, had declared in favor of my nomi-entered the field for a place on the State icket. But I may, and if I do, I would like to have it understood that I shall not try to secure the nomination for Lieuten-ant-Governor. If I go in for anything it will be for the Governorship alone. Nor am I a candidate for the nomination for Mayor next year.

"The Republicans," continued Mr. Cantor,

"are trying to make it appear that they have a walkover. But the Democrats have a good deal more than a fighting chance. The Republicans are hampered by national issues; we are not. We are free to make an old-fashinoned fight, full of vim and vigor, and we can win. Gov. Odell says he doesn't care whom we nominate, or what we do, because the Republicans are sure to win anyhow. I'm glad he thinks so. That same kind of confidence on our part has de-feated us more than once"

MRS. HUNTINGTON'S MAID SHOT THE DEED OF A GARDENER WHO

FEARED DISMISSAL. ht Elizabeth Connell Had Broug It About and Fired on Her Without

Warning-Coroner Had to Use Threats to Get Information of the Crime. Elizabeth Connell, a maid in the employ of Mrs. Collis P. Huntington at her summer esidence at Throg's Neck, was shot three times vesterday, one bullet entering the right lung, one the right arm and the third striking her right wrist. Daniel Hawkins, who was employed on the place as a gardener, fired the shots. The woman's chances for recovery are said to be good. After the shooting Hawkins tried to commit suicide by jumping into Long Island Sound, but was dragged out by the other servants and turned over to the police. Hawkins is the father of seven children In some way he got an idea from the gossi; of the servants that he was soon to be dis charged and that the Connell woman was trying to bring this about. He has acted strangely at times for the last two months. last Tuesday night one of the watchmen left his revolver in a greenhouse. Haw kins found it and put it in his pocket.

He walked into the kitchen yesterday where the Connell woman was doing some work, and said to her: "I hear you are going to get me fired from here!" The woman told him she didn't know what he was talking about, and ordered him out of the kitchen. He went, but told her that she had better look out. The woman became frightened and was unable to sleep from thinking of the incident. Yesterday morning she was standing at the sink in the kitchen washing some towels and Hawkins, walking in, shot her through the right lung before she knew of his presence. The woman turned around, threw up ber right hand and cried: "Don't shoot!" but Hawkins fired again, the bullet going through her wrist. She fell to the floor crying, "My God, I'm shot!" Taking de-liberate aim the man fired again, the bullet striking her arm near the right elbow The noise of the shooting by this time aroused Mrs. Huntington and the servants

Hawkins rushed out of the kitchen and started on a run for the Sound. He ran to the pier on the grounds and jumped in, several of the men servants close at his hoels. George Hollingsworth, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Huntington, was in bathing near the pier. With the assistance of the ser-vants he dragged Hawkins ashore. The man was shricking, "Let me drown! Let me drown!" and fighting desperately to get away, but he was held and lodged in a boathouse until Detectives Dilion and Morton arrived from the West Chester Doctors Deming and Towne were sum-moned from West Chester to attend the moned from West Chester to attend the woman, and Coroners O'Gorman and Berry went to the house to take the woman's ante-mortem statement. At first, according to the Coroners, Mrs. Huntington and Mr. Hollingsworth refused to let them in or give them any information. Coroner O'Gorman threatened both with arrest if they didn't comply with his demand, and did order Mr. Hollingsworth arrested, but afterward changed his mind about the afterward changed his mind about that.

The Coroner was permitted finally to question the girl. She said she had no idea why the gardener shot her.

Hawkins was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Crane in the Harlem police court and held without bail to await the result of the woman's injuries.

Cut Glass.

Our efforts have done more than anything else - THAN EVERY-THING else-to make Cut Glass popular. While other stores, dominated by the High Priestess of Exclusiveness, were maintaining prohibitive prices, we were energetically working to get them down to a level that would allow people of limited incomes to enjoy these rich things. Cut Glass, with its inimitable grace and certain suggestion of refinement and taste, would be missing from many American homes but for our endeavors. We are all the time doing something like this: Fruit and Salad Bowls. From $3.49 to $2.49 -7 in. diameter. From $3.97 to $2.97 8 in. diameter. From $4.87 to $3.97-9 in. diameter.

GOV, ODELL'S NARROW ESCAPE

THREATENED WITH SERIOUS AC-CIDENT, IF NOT DEATH.

He Was Crossing the Railroad Track at Dunkirk Just as a Train Was Backing Down-Pulled From the Track Just in Time to Escape Being Run Over.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Sept. 3.-Gov. Odell had a narrow escape from serious accident. if not death, immediately after his arrival at Dunkirk this morning. As he passed through the depot with his suite, in company with Justice W. B. Hooker and other gentlemen of the receiving party, on the way to the carriages waiting to convey him to Justice Hooker's home for luncheon, the Governor stepped upon the track of the Eric Railroad just as a switch engine was backing down a train of eight gondolas. On the rear car a brakeman was yelling a warning, but his voice was drowned by the noise of the trains, and, unconscious of the impending danger, the Governor continued his conversation with Justice Hooker and Dr. Williams, who walked beside him. Fortunately the peril threat ening the Governor was seen at the same instant by Ticket Agent John Bourne and Vice-President Frank May of the Merchants National Bank, and they both sprang forward to the rescue just in time, for as Justice Hooker, who was the first of the party to observe their warning, seized the Governor by the arm and pulled him from the track, the car passed over the spot where he had been a moment before. Gov. Cdell, with his brother, Prof. G. C. D. Odell of Columbia College, and his private ecretary, James G. Graham, were afterward taken on a drive about the city and into the grape region, under the escort of Justice Hooker, State Tax Commissioner L. F. Stearns, Dr. J. T. Williams, Dr. M. M. Fenner and Congressman Vreeland. At 2:30 ner and Congressman Vreeland. At 2:30 the Governor and suite were guests of Justice Hocker at luncheon. The weather was fine and the people gathered soon after noon about the flag-trimmed platform from which the Governor was to speak. The Lake City Band occupied a portion of it and at 2 P. M. played a welcomeing overture as the Governor was escorted through the crowd to the platofrm. As he appeared the cluers were loud and prolonged. he cheers were loud and prolonge Speaker Nixon, in his capacity of Presi-ent of the Chautauqua County Agrident of the Chautauqua County Agri-cultural Association, made a brief speech, in which he said that the policy of the State government has been the advance-ment of the agricultural interests of the State. He said that every Executive has responded generously for this purpose, and none more so than the distinguished gentle-man present. He then introduced Gov. Odell.

As the Governor rose and advanced to As the Governor rose and advanced to the front of the platform he was again greeted with applause. He began his address by saying: "It gives me great pleasure to be here to meet so many men and women of the Empire State. I am glad to grows so rapidly.—Adv.
